

Library is full of fun for all during spring break

During GISD's school days, the Georgetown Public Library is mostly populated by adults. But during spring break and summer, more children are in the building all day, and we welcome them wholeheartedly. This year, spring break is March 16-20, and the library's kids' team is ready.

"On Tuesday, we'll be visited by some big trucks including emergency and construction vehicles," Children's Librarian Bethni King said. "The next day, Elizabeth Kahura will entertain us with music and stories from Africa. Thursday is Lego Day. Learning Fun 101 will bring hundreds, thousands, millions (maybe not millions) of Legos for free-building and more. Tweens ages 9-12 will be on the case on Friday as they solve the Gator Caper at GPL Zoo. All events are free, so stop on by and have some fun at the library. And note — there are no storytimes this week."

Also on Friday, Teen Librarian Melissa Mote said the teens will have a birthday party for Mr. Rogers.

There will be a Mr. Rogers look-alike contest, cake and plenty of Mr. Rogers episodes.

"It's a chance for teens to relax and be silly," she said. March also brings some fun for adults to the library. We'll open a new solo art exhibit by Linda Murray called Infrastructure on March 8 with a reception and artist talk on March 13. Murray's work explores the boundaries and relationships between nature and technology. She is a native Texan and graduate of the University of Texas at Austin. She has had many one-woman shows, has been featured in multiple juried and invitational shows, and has paintings scattered across the United States.

Also on March 8, Colors, a solo exhibit by Russian artist Wladimir Barantschikov, opens. Barantschikov graduated from the Academy of Arts in St. Petersburg in 1983. He specialized in restoration of monumental art and icons, and he owned and operated a design company for about 10 years, engaging in various art projects in Russia, Kyrgyzstan and Uzbekistan. The artist migrated to the south of Germany in 1995 and has worked as a freelance artist exhibiting his art in national and international art galleries. He loves to travel the world, learn more about different cultures, and enjoy life, surrounding himself with books, music, and family.

"As I am constructing images of a dream-like, out-of-space reality, my intention is to depict the world in unusual ways. I desire to capture the psychological and mystical elements of life that are often invisible to the eyes. I play with colors and forms. I am inspired by century-old artworks and simultaneously guided by the images of our modern and fast-moving world. The interplay of all these elements allows me to paint a world full of possibilities in which anyone can make up their own interpretation of what they see, and create their own story."

Upcoming events at the library

- Through March 5, Georgetown Independent School District Student Art Exhibit
- March 6, 7-9 p.m., Paint with Ariel (ages 18 and older, advance sign up required)

March 11, the GPL World Cinema series will screen The Farewell, a film in which a Chinese family discovers their grandmother has only a short while left to live and decides to keep her in the dark, scheduling a wedding to gather before she dies. The GPL World Cinema screenings contain mature themes, events and language. They are recommended for ages 18 and up. Popcorn will be provided.

Finally, songwriter and performer Austin Mayse visits the library on March 15 to perform in the Live Music in the Library series. Mayse is a singer-songwriter with country, folk and Austin Soul influences. Originally from Texas City, Austin moved to the Hill Country in 2006 to be closer to the area's thriving music community. He mixes humor and sincerity in his original songs in order to paint the world as he sees it. Austin plays guitar and harmonica. He also plays trumpet in numerous groups and in the recording studios of Austin. His lyrics are wry and insightful, and this will be his first appearance in Live Music at the Library.

See you in the library!

Satan wants women to vote; state court upholds suffrage

Random Articles from 1919

December 5, 1919: Against Woman Suffrage — "And Adam was not deceived, but the woman, being deceived, was in the transgression." Eve did what Adam wouldn't have done without her initiative. I think Eve's mistake should put a quietus on every woman's desire for leadership. Before Germany declared war on England those English suffragettes were determined to rule-or-ruins; now they are in sackcloth for their loved ones. I believe the woman's forum is the parlor where she can entertain her husband when he returns from the arduous duties of church and state. "The Devil is the author of confusion" and seeks to destroy both church and state; and, if the woman will aid him, he can win: the initiative and the balance of power are theirs. I believe Satan wants the woman to vote because if he can mislead them, he knows he can mislead the men.

December 12, 1919: C.B. Prewitt and T.G. McConnell of Taylor have secured a drilling team and rig and will at once begin prospecting for oil on leases held by them in the Sandoval community, 12 miles northeast of Taylor. The rig and outfit arrived in Taylor this morning and today is being moved to the Sandoval community. Messrs. Prewitt and McConnell expect to begin drilling before the first of the new year and will drill four or five wells on their holdings. They expect a revival of the oil industry, which was experienced by Taylor people during the Thrall oil boom in 1915.

Mr. Neff makes a strong plea for better schools in his platform speech [for governor]; but he does not suggest a definite proposition as to how the salaries of teachers are to be raised. It may be enough that a candidate for governor shall declare himself in favor of such a proposition and pledge to the hard effort to the accomplishment. Right now, teachers and school officials want to know how it can be done.
The Texas State Teachers' Association demands an additional $10 million for teacher salaries, which is almost double the present amount. Using the present tax evaluations, where will the increase come from? Only increased assessments can provide the needed revenue. Will equalization of taxes throughout the state do the trick? What candidate for governor has a concrete proposition to offer as a means of doubling the state school funds? No doubt all will promise to do as much as Mr. Neff, but who has a plan?

The women voters of Texas today won a victory when the Third Court of Civil Appeals, in a special sitting, completely upheld the constitutionality of the women's suffrage out of the fourth called session of the Thirty-Fifth Legislature, which permits women to vote in the primary elections. The court, by unanimous opinion, affirmed the case of Tom M. Hamilton vs. Lee R. Davis, tax collector, appealed from the District Court of McLennon County.

The case is to be taken up to the Supreme Court. Hamilton sought an injunction to restrain the tax collector of McLennon county from issuing poll tax receipts to women. The District Court did not uphold the injunction.
