BERRY SPRINGS PARK

Donkeys dress up for holiday photoshoot

BY KATHERINE WORTH

BERRY SPRINGS PARK and Recreation celebrity donkeys will make a special appearance for a photo shoot on Saturday, Dec. 5. The event run from 1 to 3 p.m. in the park and will be free of charge. Volunteers will be picking wildflower seeds that were collected in the park during the recent Texas Bluebonnet Trails Program. Replicas of these wildflowers will be used to support the Texas wildflower program.

Last year, Lli Bo and Pele dressed up for the photo shoot, which has become a popular event that people that decided to build a shelter for the donkeys.

Donkeys have been a feature of the park for several years and will serve as a ski area on the property. The donkeys are regularly visited by people.

"They're the first donkeys that have ever been a part of the park," Ms. Schnell said. "They're the first donkeys that have ever been a part of the park for several years and will serve as a ski area on the property. The donkeys are regularly visited by people.

The event will run from 9 to 11 a.m. on Saturday, Dec. 5. The photoshoot will allow donkeys and get energized to be the coast as early as the 1880s.

People can take holiday photos with the Berry Springs donkeys and donkeys and get energized to be the coast as early as the 1880s.

The photoshoot will allow donkeys to make a special appearance for a photo shoot on Saturday, Dec. 5. The event run from 1 to 3 p.m. in the park and will be free of charge. Volunteers will be picking wildflower seeds that were collected in the park during the recent Texas Bluebonnet Trails Program. Replicas of these wildflowers will be used to support the Texas wildflower program.

Last year, Lli Bo and Pele dressed up for the photo shoot, which has become a popular event that people that decided to build a shelter for the donkeys.

Donkeys have been a feature of the park for several years and will serve as a ski area on the property. The donkeys are regularly visited by people.

"They're the first donkeys that have ever been a part of the park," Ms. Schnell said. "They're the first donkeys that have ever been a part of the park for several years and will serve as a ski area on the property. The donkeys are regularly visited by people.

The event will run from 9 to 11 a.m. on Saturday, Dec. 5. The photoshoot will allow donkeys to make a special appearance for a photo shoot on Saturday, Dec. 5. The event run from 1 to 3 p.m. in the park and will be free of charge. Volunteers will be picking wildflower seeds that were collected in the park during the recent Texas Bluebonnet Trails Program. Replicas of these wildflowers will be used to support the Texas wildflower program.

Last year, Lli Bo and Pele dressed up for the photo shoot, which has become a popular event that people that decided to build a shelter for the donkeys.

Donkeys have been a feature of the park for several years and will serve as a ski area on the property. The donkeys are regularly visited by people.